OCSL A CANCOM COMPANY

1000's
of applications successfully migrated

OCSL's experts delivered on time & below budget
A global aero engine manufacturer needed to drive up efficiency by moving to a shared services IT model. When the lead Systems Integrator managing this project encountered out-of-scope issues, they selected OCSL to help them turn the project around. We quickly analysed we could reduce work stream delivery times by 50%. With the right experts in place, we designed and built the platforms for 52 business critical applications, and 1000's of other applications, in a new shared data centre, on time and under budget.

A fresh perspective
Quick to respond to rapidly changing requirements, we planned resources daily, including next-day placements and night-time & weekend working. Any additional out-of-hours costs were offset by the reduction in overall programme length. Our deep technical knowledge and broad, enterprise-level experience allowed experts to take the lead on key work streams. By introducing Application Lifecycle Management for platform catalogue items, we cut test preparation time by 60% and with a standardised software library we reduced Linux build process from four days to two.

A better answer
The OCSL team accelerated a programme that was two months behind schedule and moved it a month ahead. Stringent quality standards were maintained throughout the project. As a mark of our quality and agile approach, 3 of the OCSL Project Services team received a Certificate of Excellence in Programme Delivery. In all three cases, our experts completed their project work in seven weeks, a massive 13 weeks ahead of schedule. With our help the lead Systems Integrator met the original deadline and re-established the financial viability of the project.
